

Bird Songs From Around the World

By Lee Beletsky

I'm not a skilled bird-whisperer or anything, but I appreciate the beauty and grace of our feathered friends. As spring blooms around me, I'm always wondering what kind of bird is singing that strange song, or if that 'hoo-hoo' is an owl or a mourning dove. Well, now I can figure it out! This book has hundreds of recordings of bird songs from around the world; it's so cool! Certain to be enjoyed by young and old alike!
